

ENGINEERING PROCUREMENT AND CONSTRUCTION

.... focusing and managing value chain activities .... to ensure the success of your projects.

- Audex is one of Singapore's largest and most diverse providers of engineering, procurement, construction or construction management services to the process industry.
- We manage your projects on an EPC or EPCm basis, providing seamless integration between engineering, procurement, construction and construction management activities, all these to ensure the success of your projects. We have the flexibility to provide you with just the project management expertise coupled with either procurement or construction or construction management support to suit your requirements.
- We have undertaken project ranging from major equipment replacement to the upgrading of an entire processing unit and have also been involved in numerous greenfield projects of varying sizes and complexity.
- Our project works are complemented by our in-house engineering expertise whose disciplines cover process, civil, mechanical, piping, electrical & instrumentation and tankage. This enables us to support you in areas of conceptual, front end engineering and detailed designs, using state-of-the-art engineering software.
- Our holistic approach to project works ensures that we proactively anticipate, identify and resolve potential challenges. We continuously manage and measure compliance with key performance indicators including safety, quality, cost and timely completion.
- We maintain strong relationships with key suppliers and other service providers who are experts in their own fields. Together with our dedicated fabrication facilities, an extensive fleet of equipment; and our skilled and experience team, we ensure that your projects receive the attention they deserve.